

Joseph Cofrancesco Jr, MD, MPH, FACP is the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine Institute for Excellence in Education (IEE) Professor of Medicine and IEE Director, and Professor in the School of Nursing.

Dr. Cofrancesco received his medical degree with honors from Mount Sinai, completed internship at Columbia and residency at Montefiore/Einstein; served as the inaugural ambulatory Chief Resident. At Hopkins, he earned his MPH with honors while completing GIM fellowship. He is a member of the SGIM, AAMC, ACP and IDSA, was the inaugural chair of the national Academies Collaborative; is core faculty for the Osler Medicine residency, serves on GIM fellowship board, along with committees for UME, GME, CME and biomedical education.

Dr. Cofrancesco has received numerous teaching and mentoring awards, served as consultant to several medical schools, publishes extensively and lectures nationally and internationally.

In addition to his many leadership roles, Dr Cofrancesco remains very active Clinician-Educator.