Unfortunately, due to concerns surrounding the current state of affairs of Puerto Rico as a result of Hurricane Irma, this activity has had to relocate for 2018. Cancun is sure not to disappoint as this new location boasts all the amenities you were accustomed to in Puerto Rico.

Thoughts and prayers are with Puerto Rico and all the families affected by the disaster. We expect to return to San Juan once again in 2019.

Description

The 18th Annual Gastroenterology and Hepatology: Viva la Vida will provide, through formal lectures, questions and answer sessions, as well as interactive sessions such as hands-on demonstrations and interactive endoscopic cases from the Johns Hopkins Hospital, presentations of various gastrointestinal and liver disorders that will be of interest to practitioners in the field. Course attendees will be updated in a series of symposia to include current approaches to patients with IBD, fatty liver disease, pancreatitis, hepatocellular cancer, advances in Hepatitis C treatment and hot new and emerging topics including anal intraepithelial neoplasia, considerations for anesthesia, surgical interventions for GERD, submucosal endoscopy and endoscopic palliative bypass procedures. There will be a special symposia on bariatric weight loss including surgical options, endoscopic approaches and guidelines on how to build a bariatric program in your center. This year, the conference will focus on common clinical challenges faced by practitioners with clinical cases ranging from persistent abdominal pain, management of esophageal reflux, and intractable bloating.

Who Should Attend

This activity is intended for gastroenterologists, hepatologists, surgeons, fellows, residents, physician assistants, nurses, nurse practitioners, and allied health professionals who are interested in gastroenterology and hepatology. A special session on Thursday will be devoted to nurses and nurse practitioners.

Objectives

After attending this activity, the participant will demonstrate the ability to:

- Describe recent advances in inflammatory bowel disease including the role of surgery and the detection of cancer in these patients.
- Discuss new medical and surgical advances in treating liver disease, including pregnant patients.
- Discuss recent developments in the management of pancreatic disease, including pancreatic cysts, pancreatitis and pancreatic cancer.
- Discuss the management of the various esophageal diseases with recent developments in therapy.
- Describe recent advances in therapeutic endoscopy with a focus on endoscopic technique.

Participants will earn MOC points equivalent to the amount of CME credits claimed for the activity. It is the CME activity provider's responsibility to submit participant completion information to ACCME for the purpose of granting ABIM MOC credit.

Policy on Speaker and Provider Disclosure

It is the policy of the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine and The Institute for Johns Hopkins Nursing that the speaker and provider globally disclose conflicts of interest. The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine OCME has established policies in place that will identify and resolve all conflicts of interest prior to this educational activity. Detailed disclosure will be made in the instructional materials

The symposium is endorsed by the American Society for Gastrointestinal Endoscopy (ASGE).

How to Obtain Credit

Post activity, an online evaluation will be available to attendees to evaluate the activity and individual presentations and to identify future educational needs. Upon completion of the evaluation, the learner must attest to the number of hours in attendance. Credits earned will be added to the learner's transcript and immediately available for print. The last day to access the evaluation and attest to your credits # is April 23, 2018.

An outcome survey will be sent to all physician attendees within two months post activity to assist us in determining what impact this activity had on the learner's practice.

Americans with Disabilities Act

The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine and The Institute for Johns Hopkins Nursing fully comply with the legal requirements of the ADA and the rules and regulations thereof. Please notify us if you have any special needs.

Acknowledgement

Applications for commercial support from health care related industries are pending. A complete list of contributors will be provided in the syllabus. Please note that commercial support received is solely for the educational component of the activity and will not be used to provide food and beverage.

Please note: The Physician Payments Sunshine Act was enacted by Congress to increase public awareness of financial relationships between drug and medical device manufacturers and physicians. In compliance with the requirements of this Act, the commercial supporter/s of this activity may require the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine to report certain professional information (such as name, address, National Provider Identifier (NPI), and State License number) of physician attendees who receive complimentary food and beverage in conjunction with a CME activity. The commercial supporter is required to submit the collected data to the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services which will then publish the data on its website.
