2017 EATING DISORDERS CONFERENCE

FROM PREVENTION TO INTERVENTION

MONDAY, OCTOBER 23, 2017

Thomas B. Turner Building Johns Hopkins East Baltimore Medical Campus Baltimore, Maryland

> This activity has been approved for AMA PRA Category I Credits[™].

DESCRIPTION

This one day CME/CEU conference includes an evidence-based and highly relevant series of talks and workshops for practitioners who deliver care to patients with, or at risk for, eating disorders. Topics covered will include the prevention of disordered eating and weight control behaviors, suicide and self-injury in patients with eating disorders, assessing where and when to refer patients to intensive treatment programs, and neural and behavioral influences on body weight. Workshops will provide practical clinical skills in managing psychiatric and medical emergencies and abnormal illness behavior in patients with eating disorders and in the implementation of meal-based and cognitive behavioral interventions.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

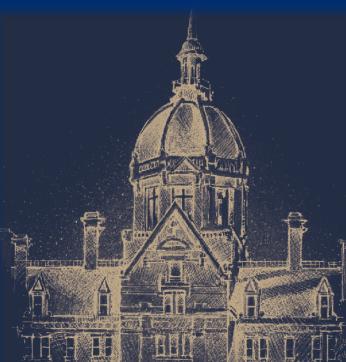

This activity is intended for psychiatrists, pediatricians, adolescent medicine specialists, psychologists, social workers, licensed professional counselors, registered dieticians, occupational therapists, educators, and others interested in the evidence-based treatment of eating disorders.

OBJECTIVES

After attending this activity, the participant will demonstrate the ability to:

- Describe prevention strategies for disordered eating and weight control behaviors.
- Critically assess outcome data from intensive treatment programs for eating disorders and identify important elements of an effective treatment program.

• Discuss the relationship between disordered eating and both suicidal and non-suicidal self-injury behaviors.

CREDIT DESIGNATION STATEMENT

The Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine designates this live activity for a maximum of 7.25 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits[™]. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
