Current Topics in Geriatrics – A Virtual Series

Cultural Competence in Dementia Care

DESCRIPTION

As the older adult population lives longer and becomes increasingly diverse, it is imperative that we offer high quality continuing education in the care and management of geriatric patients. Most physicians have received very little or no formal geriatrics training, despite this growing trend in the number of older adults they care for. The activity will improve knowledge about diseases and syndromes common in the elderly and offer practical and effective guides to their management and address cultural competence in providing care. It will address the specific challenges faced in 2020 including the COVID-19 pandemic and racial/ethnic inequities and impact on older adults and the health care team.

This activity has been approved for AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™.

Dr. Beacham's vision when he developed the course in 1972 was to provide scientifically based practical, clinical talks focused on improving the health care of individual seniors. It is in that spirit that we dedicated Topics in Geriatrics to his memory when he died in May 2008 at the age of 93. Through this and subsequent courses, we will bring together many of his trainees and colleagues to give the sort of talks he demanded.
