

Institute for Excellence in Education (IEE)
Education Conference and Celebration 2022

March 25, 2022

This conference will be held in a blended fashion utilizing both in-person sessions and virtual sessions via Zoom

DESCRIPTION

This conference is specifically designed to provide a venue in which those interested in medical and biomedical education from across the Schools of Medicine, Nursing and Public Health can come together to share ideas, educational research, innovations, and instructional methodologies; to learn from each other and guests, promote a community of educators, and celebrate our great teachers and educators.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

This activity is intended for all specialties in academic and research.

OBJECTIVES

After attending this activity, the learner will demonstrate the ability to:

1. Describe one educational research study.
2. Describe two innovations in medical, biomedical or health professions education done by faculty, students, residents, fellows or postdocs.
3. Select one item below based on the workshop you attended: a. Describe the process for making medical and biomedical education diverse, equitable and inclusive. b. List and describe a method to evaluate and conduct a literature search. c. Describe the key steps for conducting international educational research and scholarship.
